Brighton Craft Guerrilla
Cordially invites you

You are formally invited to spend the afternoon of the 29th April with Brighton Craft Guerrilla at a crafty picnic held in honour of the occasion of the marriage of Prince William and Kate Middleton (or just to take advantage of the day off you have been given!)

The afternoon is an opportunity for Brighton and Hove crafters and wannabe crafters to get together, eat cupcakes, make stuff and generally have a great time— all thanks to the fact that two posh people are getting hitched.

The Details:

Where: Preston Park (near to the Clock Tower)

When: 1pm, Friday 29th April 2011

What to bring: whatever you are working on, something nice to eat/drink and share

RSVP: via Twitter (@CraftasticBton), via Facebook, via the blog
